Our M&A practice includes representing buyers, sellers, and lenders in connection with various types of acquisition transactions. We counsel these clients in complex transactions including mergers, sales and purchases of stock and assets and leveraged buy-outs. In addition to our lawyers' specialized M&A skills, our M&A lawyers have a breadth of experience in corporate law and governance, securities regulation, finance, and the other corporate disciplines important to the successful completion of any transaction.

Our M&A clients include financial services, manufacturing, biotechnology, software and technology, professional services, retail stores and communications. We have considerable experience assisting buyers with the unique issues posed by the acquisition of troubled companies, in and out of formal bankruptcy proceedings. Our business lawyers draw on the expertise from our tax, employment, intellectual property, real estate and other specialists when needed.
